

Do you need medical assistance?

Medical Assistance (MA) provides Medicaid health insurance for needy and low-income families and individuals.

Medical Assistance

How is eligibility determined?

Medicaid coverage is provided to those receiving other public assistance, including Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Temporary Cash Assistance (TCA), foster care, low-income families and disabled adults may also be eligible. The amount of coverage varies based on your income. You can have private health insurance and still be eligible for MA.

How do I apply?

You may file an application online at www.marylandsail.org, by mail, fax, or other electronic means; someone may drop an application off for you, or you may apply in person at a local social services office or your local health department.
